

Valuations

What does it involve?

A valuation may arise in independent expert witness assignments or as a consulting engagement.

How we can help

We prepare business valuations for independent expert witness assignments and consulting engagements, valuing small private companies, ASX-listed entities, assets owned by private equity vendors and potential business opportunities.

Business valuations can often involve the preparation of detailed discounted cash flow models, the analysis of comparable companies and comparable transactions and the identification of appropriate industry valuation benchmarks.

A brief summary of services we can provide includes:

- Business valuations in the context of litigation.
- Consulting valuations, including valuations to management and boards of directors.
- Consulting expert services, including providing assistance to Counsel in preparing for cross-examination.
- Business and asset valuations to assist a Receiver in satisfying their obligations pursuant to s420A of the Corporations Act.
